

Coloured Samples Guidance Notes

We produce sample prism sticks to give an indication of colour of the finished mortar. These samples are produced in our manufacturing facility and cured under ideal conditions.

The colours shown are therefore a representation of the finished product and we cannot guarantee an exact colour match. The EcoRight colour range is intended to represent brush finished joints.

Colour variations can occur as a result of changes in raw materials and finished surface texture. The following can also affect the colour of the finished mortar;

- Water content/ workability
- Surface finish, tooled or brushed
- Weather conditions prevailing
- Curing regime
- Workmanship

It is advisable to carry out sample panels prior to committing to a final colour choice. Furthermore, to obtain colour consistency as far as is possible for natural products; please order your products at one point whenever feasible to do so.

All coloured products within the EcoRight range are warranted to be of uniform quality within normal manufacturing tolerances. In addition, as EcoRight has no control on the use and application of these products, no warranty expressed or implied is made.

Sellers and manufacturers obligation shall be limited to the material portion proven to be defective.”
